

GiveShop Community Safety with COVID-19

GiveShop's top priority is the health and safety of our community. More and more people are supporting local charities and schools through GiveShop, and every one of us has a role to play in preventing the COVID-19 virus from spreading.

The situation continues to evolve daily, and Health Canada has deemed the risk to Canadians as high. As a result, Health Canada is asking Canadians to avoid non-essential gatherings or contact with other people and practice physical distancing, proven to be one of the most effective ways to reduce the spread of illness during an outbreak.

We ask all users to do their part in promoting public health. If you are planning to transact we ask all of our users to do so with care. There are some measures we ask all users to take to help keep yourselves and your community healthy.

If you choose to transact, please consider these options for contactless transactions and to minimize in-person contact.

If you need to meet

If you need to meet in person, ensure you wear a non-medical mask or cloth face covering and maintain a distance of at least 2 meters to help stop the spread of COVID-19. Please always follow federal and provincial government measures.

Importantly, if you are sick, stay home, and if someone in your household is sick, stay home. Follow Health Canada's guidance and wait until everyone in your household is better before making a transaction, including buying or selling without meeting.

Practice good hygiene

Whether selling in person or through other means, all users should clean items as per Health Canada's guidance. We also recommend that buyers receiving an item clean the item and wash their hands before touching their face.

Thank you for helping by following our guidelines. Together we can stay safe.
